
ORAL OTIS

Distributed to Insitutes of Higher Learning Since 1988

Home

Volume 20, Issue 4

Design Team

Advertising

Archives

Links

Ask The Keepers

Dear Keepers,

I'm seeing (read: sleeping with) one of my semi-close friends. This is all good, unfortunately, the sex is not. I don't know what it is...I'm not claiming to be Casanova by any means, but she comes all the time. Again, not a problem, quite good in fact, but the problem is she always comes before I do! Then as soon as she does she collapses, wants me out of her, and just wants to go to sleep. What's the best way to get around this, or atleast get her to finish me off?

Can't Get to Come

Dear Time to Try the Bum,

Blow it faster! Some would argue that this is a complete reversal of what usually happens in sex, where the man finishes, falls asleep or is made a sandwich by his partner. I, of course, would say that they're absolutely right, but it's that way for a reason! You better make me that sandwich woman! If a woman released an egg every time she came, then maybe this would be a different story...but last time I checked, which wasn't recently, this isn't the case. Biology lesson #1, for humans to reproduce the male must release his nut-nectar into the female. Then the female must subsequently make the man a sandwich and bring him a beer for his life-giving capabilities. This second step may be passed up in the case that the male must take a nap, but if so, it is expected that the sandwich will be ready at the time of awakening. Note the distinct lack necessity for the female orgasm. You think it's really that hard to find the G-spot? Not particularly. You think we really care? That's another story.

There are of course ways to get around your predicament, but primarily you gotta step up your speed...this is a sprint, not a marathon...hell, I'd compare it to the 50 metre hurdles. Start: Makeout, First hurdle: Bra, Second: Pants button, Third: Finger play, Fourth: Complete clothing removal, Fifth: Insertion and finally, the finish. Blow your way past the first four hurdles, that way she doesn't even have a chance to get her engine revving, (notice the lack of oral satisfaction) and just blast your way home as fast as you can, you can do it team!

Now that you've got the theme a few other tricks that will get her to think twice about finishing quicker than a pedophile at a preschool include;

Jerking off on her after she's finished: If she doesn't get the message after the first or second time, she'll sure get the message when you start aiming for the eyes. The hair isn't too pleasant either, and lord knows the eardrum is prone to infections. Perhaps you can make her blow you right after...I'm sure she'll enjoy the taste of fresh fish.

Slide your beef-bayonet an inch and a half past her great divide and slam it right into the road less traveled: This is a sure fire way to get some serious enjoyment for yourself, while slowing your partner down, not to mention the fact that all pregnancy scares go out the window, so fire away champ!

Don't stop: Hey, if she's screaming and moaning in pleasure, just keep thrusting harder and don't let her get away...remember, you two aren't finished till you say you are.

Last but not least, tell her you want to play some kinky role reversal games. Enjoy the kinky foreplay, and once she's about to get herself off, pull out and go to sleep. How about that role reversal. Or even better, demand a sandwich. Fuckin hell I want a sandwich.

Keeper the First

Dear Keepers,

There was a TA for one of my classes that I, well... had the hots for. I had been meeting with her on a semi-regular basis for help with my studies and I grew to like her in a little more than a professional manner. Now that the semester is over I still keep seeing her every now and again for a little bit of help and a little bit more math help. I was wondering what course of action I should take to be able to get with her?

Wanting some extra-curricular

Dear Fill her with Some Extra-Dickular,

Making a move on a TA requires some dazzling dance moves, this is a fact. Not to say that it's not impossible. If experience has taught me anything, it's that nothing is impossible if you have the right plan of attack. Sometimes that plan of attack can take a while to shape up, but if you keep chipping away, know that even an ice queen will eventually fall to the right motivation.

Start up with a few witty engineering related jokes, because we all know engineers are a proud kind, and do like to have their egos inflated every now and again.

Next you can slick your way into some dirtier jokes. Gauge her reaction. If she's into it keep on going. Invite her to eat out, lunch of course, and see where that goes. Keep slipping the hints in, and hope she's getting the message.

Worst that can happen is you fail, then just make her do your calculus homework, besides, just how good looking can a female TA in Engineering be?

Keeper the Third

Written by: Keepers the First and the Third in: Volume 20, Issue 4.

Contact: askthekeepers@gmail.com

All opinions expressed in any article are strictly those of the contributor and do not reflect those of any other party, individual or group.

Copyright © Oral Otis | All Rights Reserved

This website was created by Brennan Barnhart, webmaster for the Oral Otis. Send any questions or concerns to: bbarn052@uottawa.ca